INFORMATION ABOUT THE NEW CONTRIBUTIONS OF THE THESIS

Topic of the thesis: DEVELOPMENT OF FARMING PENNFUES INTO INTERNATIONAL INTEGRATION IN DONG NAI PROVINCE

Major: Economics

Code: 62.31.01.01

Ph.D Student: Lê Thị Mai Hương

Course: 2013 - 2016

Supervisor: Associate Professor, Nguyen Hong Nga

                Doctor Le Tuan Loc

Training institution: University of Economics and Law, Viet Nam National University, Ho Chi Minh City

1. SUMMARY OF THE THESIS

The thesis analyze and evaluate the development situation of pig farms into international integration in dong nai province. Based on that, the thesis proposes recommendations to contribute to the development of the pig farm model in the study area.

The contents of the thesis include the introduction and four chapters as follows:

The introduction include the reasons for choosing the topic, the objectives of the research including the general objectives and specific objectives, the object and scope of the research, the research methodology, the structure of the thesis.

Chapter 1: Overview of situation and research methods. The contents of this chapter cover the research situation in the country and abroad. Describe the results and limitations of these studies to identify the research gap and the research direction of the thesis. In addition, the methodology is discussed in this chapter. Include data sources and qualitative research methods as well as quantitative methods.

Chapter 2: The rationale for developing a pig farm model towards international integration in Dong Nai. The contents of this chapter deal with theoretical issues of developing a pig farm model towards international integration. This is the theoretical basis for assessing the development situation of pig farms in Dong Nai. Specifically referring to some concepts of farm and farm economy development, the position and role of pig farms; Framework development theory of pig farms; Requirements for pig farms in the process of international integration. In addition, experience in developing models of pig farms in some countries in the world, some localities and lessons for Dong Nai province are also mentioned.

Chapter 3: Development status of pig farms in Dong Nai. This chapter deals with the development of pig farms in Dong Nai through analysis of factors affecting the development of farms; Assess the ability to meet the requirements of the integration of farms based on the criteria to evaluate and analyze the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and challenges of pig farms in Dong Nai.

Chapter 4: Solution to develop pig farms in Dong Nai. Contents of this chapter refers to solutions development model farm pig breeding in Dong Nai Province is based on a number of grounds of opinion, objectives and policies of the Party, State and people of Dong Nai province about development Develop farm economy. Some proposed solutions include macro and micro solutions.

2. NEW RESULTS OF THE THESIS

The thesis has gain new features, they are:

Identify factors that affect the development of pig farms in Dong Nai.

Analysis of the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and challenges of pig farms in the study area; What farming model is most effective in Dong Nai so that it can become a lesson learned experience for other localities.

Point out the comparative advantages and advantages of the pig farm model in Dong Nai.

Proposed solutions to contribute to the development of pig breeding farms in Dong Nai towards international integration.

3. APPLICATIONS / RELEVANCE IN PRATICE , RESEACH SHOULD BE CONTINUE

Helping pig farms in Dong Nai have a holistic view (on status quo, influencing factors, advantages and disadvantages) to bring into play advantages and disadvantages to help livestock farms Developed in both domestic and international markets.

It is the basis for policy makers to have macro policies in developing pig farms.

Further studies can continue the actual survey of pig farms and may find new factors to improve the assessment of the development of pig farms in Dong Nai. .

Supervisor   Ph.D Student

Associate Professor, Dotor Nguyen Hong Nga   Lê Thi Mai Hương

University of Economics and Law

VNU – HCM

Rector